Route 93 Traffic Badly Snarled

Traffic backed up on Route 93 Monday nearly to Dascomb rd., from a starting point at the junction with Route 495.

Cause of the snarl, with cars three abreast for over a mile, was the unceasing use of the highway by large Euclids, hauling fill across the thru-way.

The DeMatteo Construction Co. is building an interchange for the two highways, and has reached the point where fill must be hauled from one side to the other. It is reported, however, that the new bridge will be usable next week, and the equipment will use this access instead of running across the road. Until that time, motorists using Route 93 proceed cautiously when

French Visitors Keeping Busy

A group of 11 French students, here with the Experiment in International Living, will conduct a similar press conference at Memorial Hall Library next Wednesday evening.

The affair, scheduled for 8 p.m., is open to the public. Among other things, the students will discuss the differences between French and United States educational systems.

The students are all living with local families this month, and in addition to group activities, they have been enjoying this normal family life.

The schedule for this week, however, indicates how busy the young people are during this stay:

Monday the entire group started with coffee at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Farrington on Argyle st., then in the afternoon an interested group toured a textile mill in Lawrence under the guidance of Daniel Frishman.

All of the young people went to Boston Tuesday, touring the Museum of Fine Arts in the morning and MIT in the afternoon.

Wednesday daytime was free but a party was scheduled at the Log (Continued on Page Eight)

Andover residents probably will have an opportunity to inspect one local fall-out shelter, according to Civil Defense Director Lee E. Noyes.

He told the Townsman this week that plans for erecting the shelter on the municipal parking lot should be completed next Monday night at the Selectmen's meeting.

Mr. Noyes said Robert Rabenius representing the Greater Lawrence Home Builders Association, probably would appear at that meeting to discuss proper procedures with the Board. All that remains, Mr. Noyes said, is to settle the matter of receiving permission for the project.

Selectman Eugene A. Bernardin Jr., chairman of the Board, said the offer to build the shelter had been made last week, and that (Continued on Page 12)

Sign School Contract; Construction Next Step

Contracts were signed yesterday for construction of the new elementary school on Lovejoy rd. with the low bidder, Champy Construction Co. of Lawrence.

The firm's low price was $726,595.

The School Building Committee, in the face of lower-than-anticipated bids, has been able to reduce the amount of money to be borrowed for the structure. Instead of selling bonds valued at $880,000, as originally planned, the bond sale has been reduced by $15,000.

The Committee expects that construction will begin immediately, and looks forward to having the building ready to use by September of 1962, as planned.

Champy, in receiving the award, was low bidder among 12 competitive contractors.

His bid included $364,682 for the general contract work, and $361,913 for sub-contracts, which are included in the overall price.

Other general bids received were Grande and Son Inc., Malden, $740,366; C. R. Burns and Sons, Brookline, $755,800; DeStefano Construction Co. Inc., Brighton, $765,000; J. J. Vaccaro Inc., Somerville, $765,875; N. D. C. Construction Co. Inc., Natick, $767,800; A. Pasquale and Sons, Haverhill, $768,145; Morris and Son Construction Co.; Lowell, $769,465; D. Guschoy Co. Inc., Boston, $783,500; White Construction Co. Inc., Burlington, $792,500; Charles Construction Co. Inc., Methuen, $794,429; and George Fichera Construction Corp., Lawrence, $798,371.

Gold Medal Winners Announced At Playgrounds

Gold Medal winners on Andover's five playgrounds were selected this week.

The winners were chosen on the basis of their attendance, participation, ability and other factors established by the recreation officials.

On two playgrounds, the youngsters were designated as "junior winners" because their ages are eight and nine.

Field Day Winners
Tuesday, when all the playgrounds met at Central for the annual field day, Indian Ridge walked off with top honors.

As things turned out, the playground didn't even need its handicap to win. The final score was 87 Indian Ridge, 63 for Central, 55 Shawsheen, 42 West Center and 38 for Ballardvale. Indian Ridge's handicap of 20, if deducted, still would have left that playground the winner by four points.

Here's the way the races turned out:

Dear friends,

We subscribe to several professional magazines. They are filled with useful information and suggestions. The very highest ethical practices are advocated.

"A worthwhile business", says one editorial, "was never built on questionable business tactics". Dishonesty doesn't thrive in the funeral directing profession any more than it does in others. If there were no other reason for it, honesty is a good business rule.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

No Director Yet

As the summer recreation season nears an end, it is obvious that the two directors and their "bosses", the Recreation Committee, have been doing an excellent job. They have not appeared to slack off, under the uncertainties of the recreation situation in the community.

It is now five months since the voters approved spending tax dollars to pay a recreation director — they wanted such a person to assume responsibility for planning and running a recreation program here year-round.

The town manager, from a list of candidates, selected one person and recommended him to the Selectmen, with the approval of the Recreation Committee. The Selectmen did not approve the appointment, and thus tossed the matter back to the manager for further action.

He has written to various sources, as suggested by the Selectmen, and has a couple of applications, plus those originally received.

As soon as Mr. Duff returns from vacation, there should be some action on an appointment — or there should be a statement that no suitable candidate can be located. One way or the other, this appointment should be cleared out of the pending file.

The longer this appointment waits, the longer becomes the list of things the director should have been doing, but obviously can not do. We'll find ourselves without a plan for the winter or next spring, if we don't get some action pretty soon.

Hint Of Events To Come

A hint, and only a hint, of what is to come in the way of massive movement of gravel can be seen any day on Route 93, at the junction with Route 495.

Giant "cats" roar across the highway, taking huge loads of fill from one side to the other. Dust rises in clouds, and automobile safety becomes a big factor on the thru-way.

When construction reaches Shawsheen Village — with the big filling problem facing contractors there — we can only vaguely imagine the problems that motorists and residents will face.

It's obvious, however, that the big interchange at North Main st. and Union st. will take many long months to construct. Some of that time will be spent in filling up to road level — with the accompanying nuisances such as are evident on Route 93 at the moment.

It's going to try the patience of residents and town officials alike — but hopefully, if a real spirit of cooperation exists, it will be possible to come through that period of time without too many lost tempers.

Keep The Committee

While attention is centered on construction of the new school on Lovejoy rd., and the apparently excellent work of the Building Committee in handling this activity, we wonder whether this is not the time to consider making the Committee permanent.

Its members are, chairman, Warren Lewis; secretary, Benjamin Chase; and C. Lincoln Giles, Arthur Peatman, William R. Hill, Ernest N. Hall and Joseph Walsh. Serving ex-officio are Thomas E. Duff, William A. Doherty and Supt. of Schools Edward I. Erickson.

We have mentioned this possibility before, and others have, from time to time, joined in proposing that the step be taken.

It makes more sense to keep a good, working committee than it does to appoint a new one each time some building project is undertaken. If new appointees are to be named each time, they must spend considerable effort in becoming familiar with the subject — something that has been done by the present committee.

If made permanent, the committee could be used in an advisory capacity by the School Committee — making recommendations on the types of construction best suited to the town, on the practicality of adding to buildings over new buildings or the reverse, on the economics involved in the construction problems. This would give the School Committee an excellent source of information, coupled with the data to be received from lay committees investigating educational areas involved in new construction.

Making the Committee permanent probably requires town meeting action, and this should be seriously considered now by the town manager, School Committee and Selectmen. It's time to provide continuity of service in the construction field, rather than treating each project as some thing entirely new.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago — August, 1911

Miss Ethel Hitchcock has resumed her duties at the Townsman office after three weeks spent in Lenox and Great Barrington.

William C. Coutts and daughters, Misses Bertha and Alice Coutts, are staying at the Lawrence-Lawrence cottage in York Beach, Me.

Miss Agnes Gillen has returned from Salt Lake City, where she has been teaching for the past year. She has been spending the summer in California and Wyoming.

Local automobilists will be glad to learn that a new macadam highway will be constructed from Andover to Haverhill.

James Gillespie Sr. of Red Spring rd. returned to his home last week after a very pleasant six weeks' visit to the old home in Dunfermline, Scotland. He came across on the Lusitania.

Clarence Goldsmith has been appointed chief engineer of the high water service in Boston.

Stillman Holt, 28 Essex st., for 27 years a pressman for the Boston Globe, observed his 75th birthday Aug. 6. He was born the same day that the first B & M railroad train came into Andover.

William B. Cheever has returned to his duties at the T. A. Holt Co. after a vacation spent in Maine.

25 Years Ago — August, 1936
The Townsman is taking part, with many weekly newspapers across the country, in a straw poll indicating grass roots preference for president. So far, the local balloting shows 62 for Landon and six for Roosevelt.

Two auto crashes this week sent several people to the hospital. Saturday midnight, Officer Frank McBride in the Square heard the impact as a car crashed into the wall at the Wood estate in Shawsheen. It had first side-swiped a truck. A head-on collision on the Reading rd. Wednesday midnight sent three to the hospital.

About 30 more dogs were given anti-rabies shots at the free clinic, held at the fire station last Saturday morning. The Board of Health is making a vital effort to rid the town of all rabies — and thus far has given the serum to about 180 dogs.

Although rain threatened Monday evening, it didn't stop the hundreds of people who attended a band concert at the playground. The Haverhill WPA band, and its choral group, presented a varied program that was thoroughly enjoyed by those present.

Redistricting can be accomplished this year by the County Commissioners, and it is forecast that Andover may get back its representative. Ever since the town was placed in a district with South Lawrence, it has been impossible to elect anyone from this community, be he Republican or Democrat.

10 Years Ago — August, 1951

Outstanding progress has been made on two new elementary schools since their beginning four months ago. The Building Committee has expressed its satisfaction with the work.

Mary C. Dunbar has become the first woman juror from Andover. Her name was drawn by the Selectmen Monday night — the first woman since the new law went into effect. She has served on juries before, however, during her residence in Connecticut.

Candidates for Punched's football team will report next Monday, at 6:15 p.m. at the Playstead, according to coach Walter Roberts.

The use of nickels in the meters on Punched ave. is strongly urged — the meters are not set up to accept pennies without jamming the mechanism. Despite signs, the public continues to try the pennies, causing frequent problems for the police.

The Red Cross urgently needs more money for the mid-West flood relief. The National Red Cross has doubled its goals, after receiving new estimates of the damage. Local residents have given $800 to date — the full amount of the original quota.

Thursday is a free day, and Friday finds the boys on tour of Western Electric. Wolf Berthold will conduct the group through the plant. Folk dancing is scheduled Friday evening at the "Y" in Cambridge.

A second all-day tour of Boston is planned next Tuesday, and one week from today, the group tours Avco in Wilmington.

A farewell party is planned Aug. 29 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Edmonds on Reservation rd.

The young people were entertained at the Glen Grant's home on Osgood st. — and had their first experience with a back-yard cook-out.

They were introduced to corn on the cob, shish ka bob as done outdoors and the delights of charcoal cooking. In France, although small camp stoves are available for camping trips, no one cooks in his back yard. About 65 people attended this affair.

In other activities, individuals in the group will visit Tanglewood, are attending Esplanade concerts and are enjoying family-sponsored entertainment.

LOCAL BOY IN NATIONAL EVENT

The Junior Utility Class in which Doug is entered is for boys and girls between 9 and 14 years of age. They race boats nine feet long by 40 inches wide, with a minimum weight of 190 pounds — boat and driver combined. The boats are powered by five horsepower engines and travel in excess of 28 miles an hour.

23 Story Hour for Children, 10:15 a.m.

Story Hour

The "Deep Blue Sea" will be the theme for the Aug. 23 story hour to be held in the Children's Room at 10:15. The stories to be told, according to Mrs. Margaret Berry, the story teller, includes "The Little Mermaid", "The Stone Lion" and "Momotaro".

Whether it is the lovely new Children's Room or something else, the story hours have never been as well attended as this summer.

Noteworthy New Novels

What makes a novel noteworthy may be debatable. However, the following books are above average in interest, writing and characterization: "The Chateau", Maxwell (a novel of literary distinction in which the French scene and people are explored with great sensitivity); "The Edge of Sadness", O'Connor (a worthy successor to "The Last Hurrah"); "This Side Jordan"; Laurence (changing Africa and the fears which beset both black and white); "Among the Dangers", Elliott (ten short stories written with great craftsmanship); "Destiny of Fire", Oldenbourg (about the Albigensian crusade, by an outstanding historical novelist); "April Morning", Fast (the familiar story of Lexington and Concord told with immediacy and freshness); "China Court", Godden (about a country house in Cornwall and the five generations who have lived in it); "Ruan", Bryher (a story of sixth century Britain); "The Agony and the Ecstasy", Stone (about Michelangelo).

The following books are but a few in the space age area which may be found in the Memorial Hall Library: Fred Whipple's "Earth, Moon and Planets"; Patrick Moore's "Guide to the Moon"; David Simon's "Man High"; Hermann Oberth's "Moon Car"; Werner von Braun's "First Men to the Moon".

Science fiction must not be overlooked as it continues to be a short imaginative step away from reality. Good practitioners of this art include Isaac Asimov, Arthur Clarke, Hal Clement, Ray Bradbury, Fred Hoyle and A. E. Van Vogt.

Mental Health

The library has recently added to its collection of books in the mental health field the final report of the Joint Committee on Mental Illness and Health, a story of mental health in this country with recommendations for strengthening it. The Brattle Street Forum the other evening on Channel 2 made frequent reference to this study.

Other new books which can be found at the library include "Pioneers in Mental Health", McKown; "The Split-Level Trap", Gordon; "The Psychodynamics of Family Life", Ackerman; "Social Class and Mental Illness", Hollingshead, and "Mental Health or Mental Illness", Glasner; "Therapy Through Horticulture", Watson; "Current Concepts of Positive Mental Health", Jahoda.

MUST SIGN LETTERS TO EDITOR

The Townsman occasionally receives a letter to the editor which is unsigned — and this newspaper will not publish such a letter.

Any person is welcome to submit his comments to the editor, and the name will be withheld on request. But the letter must actually bear the signature of the writer in order to be published.

PERSONALS

Walter Marat of Pittsburg, Pa., is spending several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Kennis of High Plain rd.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Danforth and their family have returned to their home on Greenwood rd. after spending a pleasant two weeks' vacation in New York, Washington, D. C., and Gettysburg. They made a tour of the Civil War battlefields.

Registry Officers To Carry Oxygen

Another step toward advancing the area of services of Registry of Motor Vehicles inspectors to victims of highway accidents was taken by Registrar Clement A. Riley, chairman of the Massachusetts Highway Safety Committee. "Official vehicles of this department will soon be equipped with emergency oxygen inhalation therapy apparatus as a possible means of saving the life or alleviating the suffering of a person injured in a traffic mishap," said Registrar Riley.

"We are continually striving for greater efficiency in caring for accident victims and if this oxygen therapy actually saves a life or improves the injured person's condition before admission to a hospital, the service will be justified. "We realize that there are possibilities of frequent immediate needs for oxygen therapy in heart cases, shock, or asphyxia and we can now eliminate sometimes costly delays in its administration."

The first oxygen unit was presented to the Registrar by Jack Rosen, manager of the ABC Oxygen Service Company of Cambridge. In-service training programs for Registry enforcement officers in the use of this equipment will be inaugurated at once.

TRAFFIC SNARL ON ROUTE 93

nearing the construction. The big machines roar down one embankment, cross the highway, and disappear on the other side with frequent regularity.

Six officers are working at the site, but traffic moves at a snail's pace when the machines are working at full speed.

Dinner Party On 92nd Birthday

A very happy family dinner party was held Aug. 8 at the home of Mrs. Joseph Collins on Pine st., honoring Mrs. Collins on her 92nd birthday.

Although Mrs. Collins has been blind for several years, she enjoys wonderful good health and also enjoys talking over World affairs with her family and many friends who enjoy visiting with her.

Mrs. Collins received many gifts, flowers and cards from her host of friends and well wishers.

The successful bidder included the following sub-bids in his proposal:

Waterproofing: A. Belanger and Sons, Cambridge, $3,495; ceramic and quarry tile, Merrimack Tile Co., Derry, N. H., $3,448; roofing and flashing, Federal Sheet Metal and Roofing Co., Cambridge, $24,210.

Aluminum window walls and windows, Ceco Erection Co., Hartford, Conn., $43,190; aluminum entrance, glass and glazing, Empire Plate and Window Glass Co., Cambridge, $9,797; ornamental iron, General Iron Works, Lawrence, $2,494; acoustical tile, Armstrong Contracting and Supply Corp., Boston, $17,323.

Resilient floors, Flooring Associates Inc., Somerville, $6,983; painting, H. Piken and Co. Inc., Boston, $11,266; heating, Francis Maroney, Haverhill, $118,640; plumbing, D. A. Carr, Boston, $46,000; electrical, Joseph F. Bulger, Lawrence, $74,487.

The School Building Committee, after agreeing to sign the contract with Champy, decided to give the town back some money that was originally voted for preliminary plans. Of the $12,000 appropriated, it is expected that in excess of $2,000 will go to free cash by next town meeting time.

The somewhat lighter financial load has been made possible by the low bids received on sub-contracts and the general bid, plus a low price on the site development job that now has virtually been completed.

In all, the Committee has approved total expenses of $755,943. The appropriation at last town meeting and the money for preliminary plans totalled $964,575.

Mrs. John A. James and son, 22 Shipman st., have returned home from an extended vacation spent in New York.

The successful bidder included the following sub-bids in his proposal:

Waterproofing: A. Belanger and Sons, Cambridge, $3,495; ceramic and quarry tile, Merrimack Tile
Co., Derry, N. H., $3,448; roofing and flashing, Federal Sheet Metal and Roofing Co., Cambridge
$24,210.

Aluminum window walls and windows, Ceco Erection Co., Hartford, Conn., $43,190; aluminum entrance, glass and glazing, Empire
Plate and Window Glass Co., Cambridge, $9,797; ornamental iron
General Iron Works, Lawrence,
$2,494; acoustical tile, Armstrong
Contracting and Supply Corp.,
Boston, $17,323.

Resilient floors, Flooring Associates Inc., Somerville, $6,983;
painting, H. Plken and Co. Inc.,
Boston, $11,286; heating, Francis Maroney, Haverhill, $118,640;
plumbing, D. A. Carr, Boston, $46,000; electrical, Joseph F. Bulger, Lawrence, $74,467.

The School Building Committee, after agreeing to sign the contract with Champy, decided to give the town bank some money that was originally voted for preliminary plans. Of the $12,000 appropriated, it is expected that in excess of $2,000 will go to free cash by next town meeting time.

The somewhat lighter financial load has been made possible by the low bids received on sub-contracts and the general bid, plus a low price on the site development job that now has virtually been completed.

In all, the Committee has approved total expenses of $755,943. The appropriation at last town meeting and the money for preliminary plans totalled $964,575.

Mrs. John A. James and son, 32
Shipman st., have returned home from an extended vacation spent in

CAPITOL COMMENT

By
YOUR CONGRESSMAN
BRAD MORSE

My grandmother - and probably yours, too - was a frugal lady who liked to say, "A careless wife can throw out the back door more with a teaspoon than her husband brings in the front door."

Every householder knows that the drip-drip-drip of a leaky faucet, the forgotten basement light left burning, run up bills unnecessarily.

The same holds true of government. The tax dollars you send to Washington all too often are dissipated in bureaucratic bungling, extravagance, duplication. Government costs are high enough without spooning out millions of dollars wastefully.

Congress in 1947 created the Hoover Commission in the hope of eliminating such waste. Under the guidance of former President Herbert Hoover, numerous proposals were made. Some required legislative action, others needed only executive approval. Many were adopted during the Eisenhower years, but a number of others are gathering dust. Put into effect, they could save several billions of dollars every year.

Let me emphasize that Hoover Commission economy recommendations would not deprive a single American of social welfare, nor any foreign country of our aid, nor impede one worthwhile project. They are aimed solely at stepping up efficiency in our vast and unwieldy Federal operations.

One of the first things I did on taking office was to review unimplemented Hoover Commission recommendations. Then I sat down and wrote to President Kennedy.

I urged that he put into effect the Budget Reform Act which he introduced and successfully fought for in the 85th Congress. This Act would bring up for Congressional scrutiny the unobligated, unexpended carry-over funds existing in Executive departments. For example, at the end of 1960, some $20 billion in carry-over funds - which were not programmed for future use - were held by the Department of Defense alone.

In advocating passage of the Budget Reform Act in 1957, the then-Senator Kennedy said that it would "prevent a great carry-over of funds, both with respect to foreign aid and defense, which makes it almost impossible for us (the Congress) to know exactly what we are doing, and the effect our actions will have on the amount of money available to the Executive branch. The bill... will give us far greater control over the amount of money the Government will spend in each year... The reason why the Hoover Commission stated that it would save hundreds of millions of dollars is that placing this system in operation in business has brought about savings of 1, 2, and as much as 3 percent."

As passed by Congress, the Budget Reform Act permits the President to ask the Appropriations Committees to place his budget requests under annual accrued expenditure review. President Eisenhower twice tried to carry out the spirit of the law. Twice he was refused by the Appropriations Committees. But, President Kennedy, who fought so valiantly for the Act and who is leader of the party which controls these committees, has made no attempt to implement the Act, nor has he indicated that he will. I have introduced legislation to extend the law for another two years in the hope that the President will give it a fair trial.

Probing deeper into other Hoover Commission recommendations, I enlisted the support of four House colleagues. Together we sent another letter to the President. In addition to implementing the Budget Reform Act, we also urged him to exert his leadership in

Elimination of government competition with private enterprise, which exists most flagrantly in the Department of Defense;

Full integration of common supply and service activities in the Department of Defense;

Coordination of medical services now provided by 26 major departments and agencies with 66 separate units performing these services, and,

Coordination of the management of the government's tremendous real property holdings.

We respectfully reminded the President that the words of another Democratic President, Grover Cleveland, are as true today as when first spoken:

"We should never be ashamed of the simplicity and prudence of economies which are best suited to the operations of a republican form of government and most compatible with the mission of the American people. Those who are selected for a limited time to manage public affairs are still of the people, and they do much by their example to encourage, consistent with the dignity of their official function, that plain way of life which among their fellow citizens aids integrity and promotes thrift and prosperity."

The Fifth District of Massachusetts has entrusted me with the responsibility of seeing that your tax dollars are wisely spent by Washington. Within the limits of my power as 1/537ths of the United States Congress, I am striving to do just that.

MAY CONSTRUCT FALLOUT SHELTER

there had not been an opportunity to discuss the subject at a regular Board meeting. In line with the Selectmen's policy of not doing business outside of the regular meetings, he explained, it had been felt that the matter could be presented next Monday evening. He indicated that there should be no difficulty in awarding permission as long as normal procedures are followed in regards to getting permits.

Mr. Noyes also indicated that the shelter, if built, will be manned by CD personnel on a regular basis during the 60 days it will be on the parking lot. He said various groups will supply persons to be at the shelter during specified hours, to explain the structure and to distribute literature.

Appeal Board

Decisions Rendered

The Board of Appeals has rendered several decisions, based on requests coming before the Board this summer.

The George B. Westhaver Trust gained permission to erect a building, and move another, on Railroad st., with structures failing to meet zoning requirements on distance from lot lines. The new restrictions were voted last March at town meeting. The area was formerly, and is now, industrially zoned.

Sidney P. White has secured favorable consideration on his request to build a barn and silo on the east side of Andover st. in the area zoned for industrial use, and where he now has several buildings. He also has permission to build a barn and silo on land he owns across the street, fronting on Argilla rd. and Andover st., in a residential district. The Board set forth some restrictions relating to height of the structures.

Edmond and Natalie Burke were turned down on their appeal to convert a single-family house at 13 Boutwell rd. to a two-family home. The Board said the petitioners failed to show substantial hardship, and how their property differed from that in the general neighborhood.

Donald V. Porter will be allowed to divide a lot numbered 139 Chestnut st. into two lots, both with resulting frontage less than required by the zoning. The Board said other lots may be found in the area with similar frontage to that the petitioner sought.

The Cyr Oil Co. will be allowed to create four apartments in the 10-room, single family building it owns on Union st., near the gasoline station. The Board felt that such a step would help to keep the property up, and would not be detrimental to the neighborhood.

David G. Roberts Jr. may erect a garage, attached to his house, at 165 Elm st., even though it will be closer to the lot line than required. His lot, at the corner of Elm st. and Fox Hill rd. will not take a standard garage, the opinion said, without substantially interfering with the rear yard, unless the agreed upon plan is allowed.

Mrs. G. R. Abbott and Mrs. Ada Brown of Upland rd. are enjoying a few days at Alton Bay, N. H.
